

The New York Times

DINING BY DESIGN

In March of this year, the eyes of the design world descended upon Manhattan's West Side for the Design Industries Foundation Fighting AIDS' (DIFFA) annual fundraiser, DINING BY DESIGN. DIFFA's annual signature event saw many of the industry's top designers, architects and manufacturers collaborating on an array of elegant and thought-provoking dining installations to raise much-needed funds to provide education and services for people living with HIV and AIDS. The five-day event was open for public viewing and bookended by the opening night celebration, COCKTAILS BY DESIGN, and concluded with a Gala Dinner. In March 2020, look for a re-imagined DIFFA signature event, a three-day confluence of design, art, shopping, and festivities. To learn more, visit www.diffa.org.

The New York Times

Photos Courtesy of Alan Barry Page 1: 1. Gensler + Knoll + EvensonBest in conjunction with Miller Blaker 2. Teknion, Studio TK , LUUM + Tarkett + Huntsman 3. Herman Miller + Studios Architecture + WB Wood 4. Interior Design 5. David Scott Interiors for Roche Bobois 6. Patrick Mele for Benjamin Moore Inside spd: 7. Ultrafabrics designed by Stonehill Taylor 8. Roric Tobin for Modern Luxury 9. Novita Communications and Maiarelli 10. Lucinda Loya Interiors 11. Tito's Handmade Vodka 12. Stacy Garcia x Crypton Home Fabric 13. Pratt Institute: Mentor Marks & Franz 14. Rockwell Group 15. Walker Ridge Construction & Development + Madera Management 16. School of Visual Arts: Mentor Coffinier Ku 17. Casamigos 18. Black Artists + Designers Guild This page: 19. Damour Drake presents Kingston Design Connection 20. New York School of Interior Design: Mentor Shaver/Melahn 21. IA Interior Architects 22. Mckenzie Liautaud + Robert Verdi 23. FeldermanKeatinge + Associates 24. Inc Architecture & Design